Responding to the University's Needs

The Campaign For Concordia

In 1983, Concordia University launched its first capital campaign and appealed to you for your support in raising $ 25 million.

With your help we reached our objective and will thus be able to accomplish the projects outlined in our campaign table of needs.

Thank you for helping make this possible.

*Patrick Kenniff,
Rector and Vice-Chancellor*

Homage to Our Volunteers

The successful completion of the Capital Campaign is due primarily to the efforts of some 300 volunteers, including more than 100 employees of the University itself.

Leading this energetic band of volunteers were William W. Stinson, Chairman, President and C.E.O., Canadian Pacific Ltd., who served as National Campaign Chair, and James H. Smith, Chairman, President and C.E.O., Domtar Inc., who was the National Campaign Vice-Chair.

The Concordia University community is profoundly grateful for the work accomplished by the Campaign volunteers under the devoted leadership of the divisional chairs and team captains.

The Stewardship Committee

In the closing months of the Campaign for Concordia, the University appointed a Stewardship Committee to supervise all aspects of donor recognition.

In addition to such ex-officio members as the Chairman of the University's Board of Governors, Me P. André Gervais, and the Rector, Dr. Patrick Kenniff, the different categories of donors to the Campaign - corporations, alumni, faculty members, staff, students and other individual friends - are represented on the Committee.

The Committee chair is Mr. D. W. McNaughton, past chairman of the University's Board of Governors.

Duties of the Stewardship Committee include ensuring that named facilities and endowments reserved or created by donors are properly designated.

Proposed recognition of all Capital Campaign donors of $1,000 or more.

The Campaign for Concordia publication, "Commemorative Gift Opportunities", states that all donors of $1,000 or more will, "with their written approval, have their names inscribed on two permanent and identical plaques - one at the Sir George Williams Campus and the other on the Loyola Campus."

This project is also the responsibility of the Stewardship Committee. For further information, kindly write to:

"A Far Superior Physical Environment"

Concordia University Today

Concordia's Academic Mission

Sixty percent of the money raised through the Capital Campaign supplements major government funding for new construction. On the Loyola campus, the new Georges P. Vanier Library and the adjacent concert hall are now completed. The downtown Library Complex, which will also house an art gallery, a bookstore, a cinema and student services, is under construction, with completion scheduled for 1992.

In the words of Rector Patrick Kenniff: "Construction of these new facilities will provide a far superior physical environment in which to study and work."

With approximately 26,000 graduate and undergraduate students, more than 4,400 faculty and staff, two campuses, and more than 60,000 alumni worldwide, Concordia University is one of Canada's largest and most dynamic universities. Each year it awards more than 3,600 degrees and diplomas.

From its founding institutions - Loyola College (1896) and Sir George Williams University (1873) - Concordia has inherited a tradition of offering the opportunity of higher education to men and women of all ages and backgrounds.

Concordia University has four Faculties - Arts and Science, Commerce and Administration, Engineering and Computer Science, and Fine Arts - and a Division of Graduate Studies. Integrated within the faculties are seven colleges and more than a dozen specialized research centres.
